THE COTTON CROP.

BEPORTS FROM MANY GEORGIA

A FALL IN GENERAL PERCENTAGE.

Reports from Other States-Excess of Moist ure Delays the Opening of Bolls-Complaint of Boll Worms.

WASHINGTON, October 19 .- [Special.]-The October report of the cotton crop, made by the department of agriculture, shows a mateterial decline in cotton prospects, a fall in general percentage from 85.5 to 80. The state averages are as follows: Virginia, 92; North Carolina, 91; South Carolina, 83; Georgia, 82; Florida, 81; Alabama, 80; Mississippi, 75; Louisiana, 83; Texas, 77; Arkansas, 80;

The largest deterioration has been in Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana, the festile and productive bottom lands of the Mississippi valley. The cause is too much rain. Excess of moisture, coupled with lack of sunshine and reduced temperature, delays opening, causes immature bolls to drop and full-grown ones to rot, and induces sprouting of the seed. The same cause discolors the open cotton near the ground, and discharges the coloring matter of the bolls, staining the fiber. The value of the crop will be somewhat reduced by discoloration.

The high expectations of the early season were first reduced by early droughts, and later from North Carolina to eastern Texas.

In the more southern districts there is some complaint of the boll worm, with little mention of the caterpillar. The effectiveness of insecticides, when persistently applied, is frequently attested. REPORT BY COUNTIES.

The report by countries is as follows:

Campbell—The unprecedented wet weather for the last two months has been injurious. The few the last two months has been injurious. The few hot days intervening with sunshine caused it to open much more early than usual, but there was not sunction that year to gather it as fast as it opened, yet a larger proportion of the crop is gathered than usual at this period.

Chattahoochee—The most difficult question to answer is the prospective yield of cotton. Many of our best farmers will make a bale to two acres, while it will take from two to ten acres in a great many instances. Probably thirty is a safe and conservative report. Forty, if not fifty, per cent of the crop has been gathered in good condition.

Haralson—Damaged by drought and now by a storm of ram and wind.

Jefferson—Doing badly, on account of too much damp weather; quality poor.

Harris—One-fourth off from last report. It is opening rapidly, and all will be gathered in a few more weeks.

Dobly—Rust, boll—worn, and the recent heavy and incessant rains have proved very destructive.

Lincoln—County will probably average a 500-pounds bale to three acres, which is not usual here. More manure has been used and more thorough cultivation practiced than common.

Dodge—Damaged at least 25 per cent by rust and heavy rains.

Jones—Not nearly as good as was thought—in some localities no top crop at all.

Houston—Drought first caused shedding, then heavy and continued rains since August ist, together with rust on sandy lands, has made an unusually bad sample; red lands are taking on a heavy top crop that may counterbalance the rust on sandy lands, provided we can get it picked.

Greene—Has improved since picking commenced and will be a fair crop.

McDuffie—But six clear days this month and is raining now; cotton is rotting greatly in the boll, also the seed is sprouting all over the fields; it is hard to estimate the damage.

Pike—For the last three days wind from the east has been very destructive.

Bartow—Recent heavy rains will seriously interfere with gathering and marketing, in good condition, the crop of this section.

Catoosa—A little falling off from full crop on account of decreased acreage caused by culture of small fruits, etc.; season for picking unfavorable, owing to frequent rains.

Bibb—Excessive rains and wind storms have badly damaged crop in the last twelve days.

Elbert—Has fallen off several points and the wet weather has made it very unfavorable for gathering; the present northeast gale and rain found a large amount open in the field which will be materially damaged.

Tattnall—Rains are continuous; cotton is all sprouting in the field; more than one-half of the present crop now open; farmers greatly dis-

Thomas—Ruined by excessive rains; the rank growth of weeds caused the bottom crop to rot, and boil worms and rain caused the loss of the middle crop; there is a poor prospect for a top crop; early planted makes some cotton—late planted nothing but fine weed.

Troup—Has lost considerably from the continued effects of rust and excessive rains, the latter cause being the most damaging.

the almost continued rain storms of the past month.

Newton—Weather was very favorable for the growth of cotton, but late heavy rains have washed out a great deal and there will be a large amount of storm cotton. It has opened more than is common at this date.

Talbot—The month has been very unfavorable. Too much wet weather has caused rust on gray lands. Bolijworms did some damage, but the chief loss has been from rotting.

Tallaferro—Rust is excessive. Since August 28th, five days have been the longest intervals since rains. Never saw so much cotton in the field, or in a worse condition. A good deal is on the ground covered with mud and sprouted—not worth picking up.

Forsyth—Rain is, doing considerable injury. If it continues much longer cotton will sprout in the field. Is earlier than usual this fall; have marketed more than ever at this date.

Gwinnett—Will evidently be damaged several points; is hurt both in maturing, opening, and is being stained by the excessive storms prevailing how and for the past ten days.

Henry—Is thre seeks earlier than in 1889; is now sprouting in the boils from excessive rains.

Laurens—Is 60 per cent as compared to a good condition, for rains have put it in a very bad shape. A few more unpleasant dars will put ta at 50 per cent. Although open and taking the weather, it cannot be gathered soon, as pickers are so few.

Mailson—That open and not picked is damaged at least 30 per cent by late heavy and continued rains. At least one-fourth of crop was caught open by the storm, which is still unabated. Pickers scarce.

Irwin—Probably damaged 25 per cent by too much rain.

Montgomery—More than half open, but not more than one-half the open cotton has been picked, owing to the scarcity of pickers. The appearance of the staple has been injured by continued wet weather.

Taulding—It is difficult to estimate cotton. Continuous rains for eight or nine days caused sprouting in the boils. Will be classed low middling.

ASKED TO STUMP THE STATE Against the Independent Movement—But It Is Doubtful if They Will Comply.

COLUMBUS, S. C., October 19.—[Special.]— Senators Hampton and Butler have returned to their home and are met with a request from the state executive committee to take the stump against the independent movement, led by Judge Haskell. These gentlemen were during the summer campaign invited by the now independent democrats to speak against the Tillman movement. Senator Hampton came from Washington and made one or two speeches but was bowled down one or two speeches, but was howled down and advised by the Tillmanites not to meddle with the state. The tables are now turned and they are in demand. Senator Butler thinks that the request for them to speak is under the circumstances "cheeky." He does under the circumstances "cheeky." He does not think it necessary nor advisable for him to take the stump, but is willing to do so. Senator Hampton will not take the field against Haskell. Both senators will probably vote for Tillman. The situation is a peculiar one. Hampton and Haskell redeemed the state in 76. Haskell is now leading a fight against the regular nomince of the party and Hampton is asked to fight Haskell.

They were shown about the city, and at 7 o'clock left for Chattanooga. The Iron Men in Anniston.

Their Terms Extended.

Jackson, Miss., October 19.—[Special.]—
The constitutional convention yesterday adopted an ordinance extending the terms of the present state officers where installed in January last, and whose terms would have expired in January, 1894, to January, 1896. This was done in order to allow the terms of the county and district officers to be elected January, 1892, to expire with the state officers, so that hereafter they will all be elected for four years and at the same time. This course was preferred to extending the terms of the county and district officers, some 2,000 in number. The convention will not finish its labors before November 1st. Their Terms Extended.

A BRAVE ENGINEER

SAVES THE LIVES OF HIS PASSEN-

BY A LITTLE PRESENCE OF MIND.

Seeing a Wreck Ahead of Him, and Not Being Able to Stop. He Cuts Through It with His Engine.

ERIE, Pa., October 19 .- A horrible catastrophe was averted on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad today, near Silver Creek, through the bravery and cool-headed conduct of an engineer. A detached section of an east-bound freight train had been run into by another section of freight, and a portion of the debris was thrown over on the west-bound track, just as No. 5 fast train, going west, Engineer John Burns, of Buffalo, of passenger train, was coming down hill at the rate of fifty miles an hour. He saw the truck ahead, and then the freight car. He saw tha an attempt to stop his train and jump would sacrifice the lives of his 150 passengers. His fireman had left him.

Springing from his seat behind the boiler; Burns put on every pound of steam and opening his sand box so as to get a firmer hold of the rails, the iron monster gave a snort and sprang forward, threw the truck and cut through the freight car and other debris. Burns, with wonderful fortitude, held the lever, and the moment he cleared the obstruc tion, he reversed his engine and threw on the air brake. As the train entered the wreck the sides were torn out of three coaches. The screams of women rose high above the screeching of steam. Although the engine was dismantled the brave engineer emerged from the debris alive, covered with scars and bruises. Stout-hearted men embraced the engineer hysterically, realizing that his heroism had saved the train. But one passenger was seriously injured, and that was Mrs. Mary Kane, of Dennison, O. Her injuries are internal and several ribs are broken. She was placed in Hamot hospital, at Erie. Joseph Myers, of Cleveland, was badly hurt about the head. Little Susie Heitner daughter of David Heitner, of Chicago, had her shoulder dislocated; news agent John Quinn, of Buffalo, had an arm hurt. A number of others were slightly injured.

Strange to say, not a car in the train left the rack, and Judge S. S. Burke, president of the Toledo and Ohio Central railroad, who was on the train, pronounced it the most wonderful escape on record. After the people got quieted, C. M. Spitzer, a Boston banker, headed the list, and over $400 was presented to Engineer Burns by the passengers.

BOLTON HAS SKIPPED

And Left San Antonio Thousands of Dollars Short.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., October 19.—[Special.— There was a decided sensation created here in business and political circles today when the fact became public that John H. Bolton, one of the most prominent republicans in this part of Texas, and a member of the board of alderof Texas, and a member of the board of aldermen of the city council, had fied the city with about $20,000 cash, which he secured by various fraudulent means. Bolton had been engaged in the furniture business here for several years, and about three weeks ago made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, his liabilities being much in excess of his assets. Shortly after making the assignment his liabilities being much in excess of his assets. Shortly after making the assignment he set about securing all the money he could by fraudulent schemes.

At the Maverlek bank here, he made a show of making numerous deposits and at the same time, according to the statement of the president of the bank, today he quietly overdrew his account $4.000.

At the Texas National bank of this city he secured by fraudulent paper $2,500 cash. He also obtained $1,000 from City Assossor Frash; $500 from M. J. Kuhn, and other large sums, and it is to these he sold two lots here belonging to a Laredo man for $1,200 and took that sum with him.

He is also alleged to have absconded with several thousand dollars belonging to three secret society organizations here, of which he was treasurer. He is also behind $20,000 with his creditors. Bolton left the city very quietly his creditors. Botton left the city very quiety two weeks ago, and is known to have been in San Francisco a week ago. He came to this city from Australia, and if is thought he has departed for that country ere this. He has a wife and several children residing here.

Bishop Loughlin's Golden Jubiles.

New York, October 19.—For the first time in the history of Brooklyn the children from all Catholic Sunday schools and institutions of that city were out on parade to-day. The parade was given in honor of the golden jubilee of Bishop Loughlin. In all 22,000 children turned out and marched by the episcopal residence, where they were reviewed by the venerable head of the Catholic church of Brooklyn, Cardinal Gibbons, visiting bishops and prominent citizens. In the morning Cardinal Gibbons attended service at St. Agnes church, Bishop Keane, chancellor of the university of Washington, preaching. A banquet, to which 300 guests are invited, will terminate the jubilee celebration tomorrow evening.

When the train started Cochran again jumped on and succeeded in riding to Bullard's. While the engine was taking on water, Cochran told the porter of the train, who was at the water tank, that he intended to kill Conductor Rice. The porter sent this word to Conductor Rice, but he did not receive it. While Conductor Rice has a standing on the ground near the car steps, Cochran suddenly appeared with a double-barreled shotgun, and when within two feet of Conductor Rice he pointed the gun directly at Rice's stomach and pulled both barrels, but, fortunately, the caps snapped, otherwise Rice would have been instantly killed. Whila the negro was feeling in his pocket to get other caps, Conductor Rice and one or two others setzed the gun and wenched it from the negro's hand. Conductor Rice carried the gun into the car with him and the train moved off for Brunswick, leaving Cochran cursing and swearing vengeance.

Last night Conductor Rice started with his train on the return trip home. At an early hour this morning at a station below Bullard's, Rice received a telegram from Bullard's stating that Cochran was at Bullard's with a breech-loading gun, and swearing he intended to kill Rice when the train reached Bullard's. Rice communicated the information to a detective and soveral other friends who were on the train, and they determined to arrest Cochran. When the train reached Bullard's, Cochran was seen with his gun. The detective and his aids got off the train, but Rice remained on it. The posse walked up to Cochran and grabbed him ere he was aware of their intentions. A desperate struggle ensued, but flually the gun was wrenched from him and handcuffs slipped on his wrist. Macon, Ga., October is—[Special.]—This
two white men, who keep a barroom near the church, on Fourth street, were arrested for keeping open a tippling house on Sunday.
There has been much Sunday drinking in Macon. Drunken minors and men could be seen frequently on the streets drunk, and the mayor determined to put an end to the evil practice. He issued strict orders to all barroom keepers to keep their places of business closed on Sunday, and the police received stringent command to arrest all offenders.

Officers McCafferty and Howard made a raid on Gardner & Graham's place and found about seventy-five men in the bar. Dozens of them were summoned as witnesses, and Graham and Gardner were arrested and carried to the barracks. Each put up a collateral of $25 for heis appearance at recorder's court tomorrow, and they were discharged. This afternoon, about 2 o'clock, Officers McCafferty and Howabout 2 o'clock, Officers McCafferty and How-ard again arrested Gardner for keeping open his place. He was found with his apron on, and behind the bar, and several men present. He was carried to the barracks, and this time he was not allowed to put up collateral, but was locked in a cell. On being searched, nearly $2,000 was found on his person, and he said he had plenty more where that came from. Preparing for the Opening of the State Fair on Wednesday Next. Macon, Ga., October 19.—[Special.]—President W. J. Northen, of the Georgia state fair, arrived in the city last night and is a guest of the Hotel Lanier. He has come to remain the Hotel Lanier. He has come to remain until the close of the exhibition. The great fair will open on Wednesday, the 22d, and will continue for ten days. President Northen is very enthusiastic at the bright prospects for the fair. He says they were never better during his whole experience. As this will be the last exhibition under his presidency he is naturally much pleased and gratified at the promised success. All the indications point to the largest and most satisfactory exhibition ever held under the auspices of the society.

The Lynched Negro Is Put Under the Sod.
His Escapade in Birmingham.

Macon, Ga., October 19.—[Special.]—
Willie Singleton, the negro who was lynched Friday night, was buried this morning at Oakridge. His funeral services were largely attended. His death will have a very salutary effect on the negroes of this community.

In his flight Singleton went from Atlanta to Chattanooga, where he served awhite in the kitchen of the Reed house. He then went to Birmingham. One day he ran against a lady on the aldewalk, and when she spoke to him about it, he became very abusive and insulting. He was arrested and was fined $5 and costs at the mayor's court. He went to Eufaula from Birmingham as he heard that Detective Patterson was close on his track. Patterson got to Birmingham just two days after Singleton had left.

Singleton was a bad negro and his fate was richly deserved.

WOULDN'T TAKE $100,000 For a Half Interest-A Large Plant to be Erected Here.

Erected Here.

Macon, Ga., October 19.—[Special.]—Mr. J. M. Hunt, of Round Oak, Ga., has invented what is said to be the most perfect mower of all. Every expert who has seen it pronounces it complete and satisfactory in every particular. Mr. A. B. Small, a large and wealthy merchant of Macon, owns a half interest in the mower and says he would not take $100,000 cash for his interest. Mr. Hunt has just returned from Ohio, where he has been having a sample mower made. All who have seen it in operation are delighted.

Yesterday Messrs. Thomas E. Barrow and John Creigh, of Mansfield, O., who have become interested in the manufacture of the mower, arrived in Macon, and in company with Messrs. Hunt and Small, were engaged in securing a suitable site on which its erect a large factory for the manufacture of the mower.

HE SHOT THE DOCTOR. Who in Turn Gave His Assailant a Good

Whipping.
SPARTA, Ga., October 19.—[Special.]—Yesterday evening while Dr. J. Lindsay Baker, of Linton, was returning to his home from Sparta, accompanied by his daughter and Miss McAfee, he was assaulted by Jasper J. Boyer and his son, Chancy Boyer, both of whom were armed, and had stopped just outside of Linton on the roadside to redress some supposed grievance. Dr. Miller being unarmed and accompanied by ladies, requested the assailants to defer their attack, but they declined this, and persisted in making it then and there. Finding that a difficulty was inevitable, the doctor sprang from his buggy and was at once shot by Jasper Boyer, the ball inflicting a painful but not dangerous wound in the right arm. Three other shots were fired, but without striking the doctor, who got hold of Boyer and gave him a vigorous beating. Under all the circumstances the escape of Dr. Miller from death was remarkable.

The grand jury being in session, and the matter reported to them, found bills very promptly, and the affair, which is deeply regretted, will undergo judicial investigation.

AN ALLIANCE WAREHOUSE BURNED A Large Conflagration at Reynolds-Four

REYNOLD'S, Ga., October 19.—[Special.]—At 1 o'clock yesterday morning the most destructive fire occurred here that has been known in years. The fire was first discovered in the Alliance warehouse, which was almost entirely consumed before anyone arrived at the scene. Three other buildings near the warehouse were next consumed, the first a restaurant occupied by Mr. Green Windham; the second was occupied by Mr. Charles Kennedy, and the third, used as a law office and owned by Mr. Goddard, was at the time unoccupied. The exact amount of the losses is not known. The warehouse contained sixty to seventy-five bales of cotton, thirty of which were owned by Mr. T. J. Marshall; also some new buggies, owned by Mr. Charles Brooks, and some valuable notes and papers of Mr. T. E. McDaniel were destroyed. Mr. Windham's loss was $150. Messrs. G. T. Ruffin and E. A. Goddard sustained the loss of the three buildings; value not estimated. The fire was supposed to be the work of an incendiary, and one Cas Carson, colored, has been arrested upon suspicion and lodged in jail.

ANOTHER TRIUMPH IN SURGERY.

A Man Skinned Alive, but Nursed Back to Life and Resupplied with Cuticle from Big Frogs.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 19 .- Wesley Keller, "the man who was skinned alive," returned to work today. His case is curious As an illustration of the nice powers of modern surgery it will be talked about from one end of the country to the other.

On Wednesday, July 30th, Keller fell into a steam vat at the Indianapolis veneer works. He was taken out as quickly as possible, but he had been scalded from the soles of his feet to the middle of his chest. One arm was all right, but the other One arm was all right, but the other arm was blistered to the shoulder. Huge blisters puffed up all over the man's body, and the fluid which had exuded from the flesh to fill them had been cooked to a jelly. In removing his clothes great strips of the outside or scarf skin came off, leaving exposed the true skin underneath, cooked until it looked like a parboiled lobster. His toes and ankles were so blistered and swollen as to less nearly all resemblance to human members.

As soon as his fellow workmen got Keller out of the vat, they telephoned for the company's surgeon, Dr. Ralph Perry. "There is, perhaps, one chance in a thousand of saving perhaps, one chance in a thousand of saving this man," said the surgeon, when he had looked at the burns. He set to work, however, and greased Keller from top to toe with a mixture of linseed oil and lime water. Then he swathed the body in cotton wadding, from which all possible impurities and disease germs had been removed by chemicals.

THE SHOCK WITHSTOOD.

For two days and nights the case hung without loss or gain. A teaspoonful of brandy was given every few hours. Then a change came. Keller seemed to be choking. The throat became swollen, but this swelling was checked. The man's temperature rose a little. Fever set in. This gave great hope. was checked. The man's temperature rose a little. Fever set in. This gave great hope. The next morning Keller asked for something to eat, and actually ate a piece of pie and drank some coffee. The news of this shocked the surgeon at first, but he said: "I guess we'll win this fight, for a man who can eat pie with no skin on him has life enough left to grow a new one."

"OFF WITH THE OLD." When suppuration began great care was taken to let out the pus at every point. The first dressing took three hours; the second still longer. Five days were consumed in taking off the bits of old skin, four hours each day being spent with the forceps, scissors and scalpel removing the skin layer by layer. Not a piece as big as a dime was forced. Keller's pluck was marvelous. The raw surfaces were dressed with an fodoform mixture and bandaged with soft stuffs.

"ON WITH THE NEW."

Meanwhile the swamps of South Bend were being scoured for two-pound frogs. A bushel basket of these were cleaned with a germicide mixture and fed on pure food. The raw surfaces of Keller's body were tenderly washed with clean warm water, then with peroxide of hydrogen, which destroys pus. The utmost cleanliness and wholesomeness were insisted upon. Just before applying the frogskin the raw surface wasjwashed with a weak solution of corrosive sublimate. Everything ready, the first frog was brought out. With a quick snip of the scissors its spinal cord was severed at the back of the neck. Then the loose, pearly white skin from over the abdomen was quickly taken out and thrust into a dish of water which had been boiled, but which was now merely warm.

In the water had been dropped a little of the corrosive sublimate solution. Being cleansed, the skin was cut up into bits about a tenth of an inch square and applied to Keller's body—inside in, outside out. Powdered iodoform was dusted over the graft, which was sealed tightly from impurities.

Dr. Perry made grafts on forty-two.

Dr. Perry made grafts on forty-two occasions. Thirty-two operations were unsatisfactory; ten were satisfactory. From each of the ten centers healthy skin radiated, until now Keller is "as good as new."

So today Kellar went to work—the only man in the world who has been boiled and

A SUICIDE EPIDEMIC.

From Twelve to Eighteen Cases Reported Daily in the French Metropolis.

Paris, |October 19.—The city is horrified at what seems to be a suicide epidemic. For some time past as many as twelve to eighteen suicides have been reported daily. On Sunday the total was eleven. In the Rue Bertha, a woman suffering from a nervous affection woman suffering from: a nervous arccatch, swallowed a quanty of tincture of iodine. A diamond merchant named Cohen, in the Rue Maubsuge, blew out his brains for some reason which has not yet transpired. Another man of about sixty committed suicide on the Rue St. Martin in a similar manner. In the Rue des Haulets a man hanged himself. He left behind him a paper on which the following words were written: "No work; no bread; I not eaten anything two days; enough of this. En route for the turnip field."

Starvation also induced a widow in the Rue Starvation also induced a widow in the Rue Palikao to suffocate herself and her daughter, a girl of thirteen, by means of charcoal. Two young women were found drowned in the Seine. An individual in the Rue Des Pyrences poisoned himself with landanum. This epidemic of suicides seems to be a regular thing at the commencement of the spring and autumn. Last April the mergue was often filled to overflowing. Statistics show that drowning in the Seine seems to be the form of death most frequently selected in the spring, while preference is given to charcoal in the autumn.

Jackson, Miss., October 19.—It seems to be generally conceded that the constitutional convention will complete its labors and adjourn by November 5th at the farthest. That impression is confirmed by the quiek work on Saturday with the report of the franchise committee providing for an extension. The state officers expected that the opponents of this measure would present a resolute front and maintain a stubborn and protracted fight, instead of which the entire matter was settled and out of the way in a period of four hours. There are but four more subjects to dispose of-corporations, bill of rights, general provision and levees, on all of which except the last claborate reports have been filed.

The Wires Crossed.

Bosron, October 19.—About 6 oclock this evening an electric light wire became crossed with the Western Union telegraph wire, causing the burning ont of the wires running from the tower to the switch-board in the operating room of the Western Union telegraph office. The woodwork in the tower caught fire, but was extinguished with slight damage. The loss of the wires-completely isolated the Boston office, and communication was not restored until after 10 o'clock, when one or two wires to work to New York were obtained. The damage cannot be given tonight.

Mr. J. J. O'Neill has just completed one of the handsomest homes of Rome, on Second avenue. The structure has about twelve rooms. The entrance is marble-paved, nt hall is broad and wide, finished in walnut, oak and chestnut, elegantly carved in its natural dress. An antique oak bracket mantel piece, with marble tiling, adorns the lower end of the hall.

The staircase is of chestnut, oak and walnut, the right as you enter is hand-somely finished in natural woods, with artistic and delicate designs of tracery. This will be the parlor. Large carved walnut doors lead into the dining room, which is finished equally as handsomely in natural wood. On the other side of the hall the sitting room, dressroom and elegant bath-rooms finished in hard woods complete the lower floor.

There have been a number of homes built In South Rome recently by several young business men of Rome. There also have been a number of neat cottages built. The present season has been an era of house-building for Rome, and the beauty of the structures is a sure sign of wealth and prosperity.

Augusta, Ga., October 19 .- [Special.]-A wedding occurred on the Georgia railroad passenger train that arrived here this after-noon from Atlanta. Mr. John F. Mr. Carswell was determined to wed the lady love of his heart, so he made an appoint-ment with her to elope today. The young man procured a marriage license yesterday and went up to Harlem at noon today, where he met Miss Fuller, who was there visiting friend during the Columbia county fair-

Mr. Carswell secured a team in Harlem and took the young lady out to drive. The couple rode five miles to Berrelia, and there they boarded the down passenger train coming to Augusta, and they intended to marry upon their arrival in Augusta; but Mr. Carswell was apprehensive that the young lady's father was pursuing him, so spying Rev. FROM OUR NOTEBOOKS.

Will Move to Inman Park.—Mr. Victor Smith has purchased a lot at Inman park, and will soon build a very handsome residence.

Will Make a Soldier .- Mack Dyar, jr., one of the Gordon school cadets in the line of march Wednesday, attracted general attention by his soldierly bearing and was the recipient of many

The Largest Cotton Stalk .- The largest cotton stalk ever seen in Atlanta was carried out to the exposition grounds yesterday from the office of Captain A. J. West. It was brought here by Major Jones, of Bartow. The stalk is over twelve feet

Will Locate in Macon .- Dr. H. H. Johnson, a dentist who came here about a year ago, from London, England, and has had charge of the editorial department of The Southern Dental Journal, will locate in Macon, from which place he will continue as editor of The Journal.

Drygoods Men's Day.—A leading young drygoods man suggests that as all sorts of organizations have days set apart at the exposition, it would be a good idea to have a Drygoods Men's Day. There are a large number of men engaged in the trade here, and they would make a splendid Atlanta Veterans .- Tonight is the regular nonthly meeting of the Fulton County Veterans Association. It is hoped that there will be a full attendance, as Captain Frank M. Myers wishes to distribute the hats and uniforms to be used in the sham battle on Thursday next.

The Presbylerian Ladies .- Those who attend the exposition have been delighted with the ex-cellent lunches furnished at the lunch counters of the ladies of the Central Presbyterian church, in the dairy building. They are very tastefully gotten up, and visitors are given every attention by the ladies in charge.

The Committee Appointed .- At the time of the esolution regarding the disposition of the Confederate Veterans' Home property, Judge W. L. Calhoun, Captain W. D. Ellis and Hon. Nelson Tift were appointed a committee to get the matter in shape. A bill will be drafted to be put before the next legislature on that line.

In the Ballroom .- The Kimball house was c fortably filled last night, so much so that thirty members of George Wilson's Mammoth Minstrels were snugly quartered in the ballroom, as rooms could not be secured for them. Under the circumstances this was not a very bad arrangement after all, as the men are all fine musicians and some of them excellent dancers. Doubtless, they listened to dreamy waltzes as they slumbered and saw visions of beautiful maidens and gallant beaux flitting through the room. The grand street parade of the minstrels will occur at 10:30 o'clock

Another meeting will be held Tuesday evening, at which Captain Wylie will be present and the details will be arranged.

Drummers' Day will be one of the big days of the exposition, and the Southern Travelers will be prepared to entertain their guests right royally in their rooms, which are the head-quarters of the association, which had its origin right here in Atlanta.

"PHILOSOPHY OF MORAL ACTION."

Dr. Hawthorne's Sermon at the First Baptist Church.

An immense congregation, beyond the seating capacity of the church, attended Dr. Hawthorne's ministry at the morning service. The doctor preached with unusual ability and great eloquenee on the "Philosophy of Moral Action." His text was from Proverbs. IV. 23. Action." His text was from Proverbs, IV., 23, "Keep thine heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life."

"In never brought to your attention," said the doctor, "a greater subject, one more vital to the eternal weal of man. I shall thank God if I can get out of it, what I see in it. My text means that your conduct will correspond with your. character. Character is the outcome of the mind and heart. If good at the centers of thought and feeling, your outward conduct will be good. What you see in action is in the heart and mind. Actions are thought and feeling transmuted into conduct. Christ exemplified this when he said, 'By their fruit you shall know them.' 'Keep thine heart' is an epitome of the philosophy of moral action. Every man has a will and that will is free. Our conscience is evidence of this fact; an approving and disapproving conscience bears evidence that we are the custodians of our conduct. Again, the idea of moral responsibility is universal. Only such moral depravity as would place God out of the universe holds man unaccomitable. The physicochemical theory of mental and moral action places upon intellectual and moral construction and environments the responsibility of human action. Upon this theory no man is responsible for his conduct, and, carried out, would make penal statutes a farce. If man acts under physical compulsion, how can he be restrained by law? The law of approval and condemnation disproves it. We do not charge responsibility for the result of natural phenomena. You hold men responsible because you instinctively recognize a free will. Men can choose between good and evil conduct. If at the moment, from unnatural excitement or want of time, our conduct is beyond control, our after feeling condomns our conduct. About The STEVENS Watch.

The best mechanical construction, embodying principles that will produce the most accurate time, with the smallest amount of friction, and securing a watch that will run from 36 to 45 hours instead of 30 to 32.

Substantial in all its parts, so that it will stand the roughest usage; particularly adapted for rail-road and all other purposes where utmost accuracy is necessary and hardest wear is given.

The best protected against dust and cinders of railroad trains, having around each movement a special dust-excluding band for that purpose.

It has new improvements that can only be found upon our watch, and in this particular as much superior to the old style watch as the breech-load-ing gun is more desirable than the old "flint and steel." 5 By the use of our new Patent Regulator the watch can be quickly and accurately regulated, and by the means of which we have secured such remark-able results in time-keeping, as certified to by 1,000 names which we have on file.

6 Every piece of this watch is kept here at home, should an accident occur to any part, a duplicate of that part can be supplied immediately and the watch put running again in 30 minutes.

Every watch is fully guaranteed by a responsible home establishment, and the prices are very low for first-class time pieces.

THE HOLY LAND.

THE TRIP FROM JERUSALEM TO JERICHO.

Dr. Talmage's Sermon Yesterday at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn-Fourth Sermon of the Series.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., October 19 .- [Special.] -The wide-spread and aborbing interest in Dr. Talmage's course of sermons on the Holy Land and adjoining countries is demonstrated by the thousands who are turned away from the doors of the Brooklyn Academy of Music on Sunday mornings and from The Christian Herald services in the New York Academy of Music on Sunday evenings, unable to gain even standing room in those immense audito-riums. To-day the fourth sermon of the series riums. To-day the fourth sermon or the series was preached as before, in this city in the morning and in New York at night. Having announced as his text Luke 10:30, "A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho," Dr. Talmage said:

It is the morning of December 5th, in Jerusalem and we take stirrupe for the road along calcum and we take stirrupe for the road along.

DORS.

It is the morning of December 5th, in Jerusalem and we take stirrups for the road along which the wayfarer of old fell among thieves who left him wordned and half dead. Job's picture of the horse in the Orient as having neck "clothed with thunder" is not true of most horses now in Palestine. There is no thunder on their neck, though there is some lightning in their heels. Poorly fed and unmercifully whacked, they sometimes retort. To Americans and English, who are accustomed to guide horses by the bridle, these horses of the Orient, guided only by foot and voice, make equestrianism an uncertainty, and the pull on the bridle that you intend for slowing up of the pace may be mistaken for a hint that you want to out-gallop the wind or wheel in swift circles like the hawk. But they can climb steeps and descend precipices with climb steeps and descend precipices with skilled foot, and the one I chose for our journey in Palestine shall have the praise of going for weeks without one stumbling step, amid rocky steeps where an ordinary horse would not for an hour maintain sure-footedness. There were eighteen of our water each There were eighteen of our party, and twenty-two beasts of burden carried our campe equipment. We are led by an Arab sheik with his black Nubian servant carrying a loaded gun in full sight, but it is the fact that this sheik represents the Turkish government, which assures the safety of the caravan.

We cross the Jehosaphat valley, which, if it had not been memorable in history, and were only now discovered, would excite the admiration of all who look upon it. It is like the gorges of the Yosemite or the chasms of the Yellowstone park. The sides of this Lehosaphat valley are tunally of the Yellowstone park. The sides of this Jehosaphat valley are tunneled with graves and overlooked by Jerusalem walls—an eternity of depths overshadowed by an eternity of architecture. Within sight of Mount Olivet and Gethsemane, and with the heavens and the earth full of sunshine, we start out on the very road mentioned in the text when it says: "A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves." No road that I ever saw was so well constructed for brigandage—deep guileys, sharp turns, caves on either side. There are fifty places on this road where a highwayman might surprise and overpower an unarmed pilgrim. His cry for help, his shriek of pain, his death-groan would be answered only by the echoes. On this road today we met groups of men who, judging from their countenances, have in their veins the blood of many generations of Rob Roys. Josephus says that Herod at one time discharged from the service of the temple 40,000 men and that the greater part of them became robbers. So late as 1820, Si Frederick Henniker, an English tourist was them became robbers. So late as 1820, Sir Frederick Henniker, an English tourist, was attacked on this very road from Jerusalem to Jericho and shot and almost slain. There has never been any scarcity of bandits along the read we travel today.

With the fresh memory of some recent with the fresh memory of some recent riolence in their minds, Christ tells the people of the good Samaritan who came along that way and took care of a poor fellow that had been set upon by villianous Arabs and robbed, and pounded and cut. We encamped for lunch that noon close by an old stone building said to be the tayor where the good. and pounded and cut. We encamped for lunch that noon close by an old stone building, said to be the tavern where the scene spoken of in the Bible culminated. Tumbled in the dust and ghastly with wounds, the victim of this highway robbery lay in the middle of the road—a fact of which I am certain, because the Bible says the people passed by on either side. There were 12,000 priests living at Jericho and they had to go to Jerusalem to officiate at the temple. And one of these ministers of religion, I suppose, was on his way to the temple service and he is startled as he sees this bleeding victim in the middle of the road. "Oh," he says, "here is a man that has been attacked of thieves." "Why don't you go home?" says the minister. The man in a comatose state makes no answer, or, with a half-dazed look, puts his wounded hand to his gashed forehead and drawls out "What?" "Well," says the minister, "I must hurry on to my-duties at Jerulem. I have to kill a lamb and two pigeons in lem. I have to kill a lamb and two pigeons in sacrifice today. I cannot spend any more time with this unfortunate. I guess somebody else will take care of him. But this is one of the will take care of him. But this is one of the things that cannot be helped, anyhow. Besides that, my business is with souls and not with bodies. Good morning! When you get well enough to sit up, I will be glad to see you at the temple." And the minister curves his way out towards the overhanging sides of the road and passes. You hypocrite! One of the chief offices of religion is to heal wounds. You might have done here a kindness that would have been more acceptable to God than all the incense that hill smoke up from your censer for the next three weeks, and you missed the chance. Go on your way! Execrated by the centuries.

centuries. Soon afterward a Levite came upon the scene.

that will stimulate you. Now I must get you to the nearest tavern." "Oh, no," says the man, "I can't walk; let me stay here and die." "Nonsense!" says the Samaritan. "You are not going to die. I am going to put you on this beast, and I will hold you on till I get you to a place where you can have a soft mattress and an easy pillow."

Now the Samaritan has got the wounded man on his feet, and with much tugging and lifting, puts him on the beast, for it is astonishing how strong the spirit of kindness will make one, as you have seen a mother after three weeks of sleepless watching of her boy, down with scarlet fever, lift that half-grown boy, heavier than herself, from couch to lounge. And so this sympathetic Samaritan has, unaided, put the wounded man in the saddle, and at slow pace the extemporized ambulance is moving toward the tavern. "You feel better now, I think," says the Samaritan to the Hebrew. "Yes," he says, "I do feel better." "Halloo, you landlord! Help me carry this man in and make him comfortable." That night the Samaritan sat up with the Jew, giving him water whenever he felt thirsty and turning his pillow when it got hot, and in the morning before the Samaritan started on his journey, he said: "Land lord, now I am obliged to go. Take good care of this man and I will be along here soon again and pay you fer all you do for him. Meanwhile here is something to meet present expenses." and pay you for all you do for him. Meanwhile or this man and I will be along here soon again and pay you fer all you do for him. Meanwhile here is something to meet present expenses." The "two pence" he gave the landlord sounds small, but it was as much as $10 here and now, considering what it would there and then buy of food and lodging.

As on that December noon we sat under the shadow of the tavern where this scene of merey had occurred, and just having passed along the road where the tragedy had happened, I could, as plainly as I now see the nearest man to this platform, see that Bible story re-enacted, and I said aloud to our group under the tent: One drop of practical Christianity is worth more than a temple full of ecclesiasticism, and that good Samaritan had more religion in five minutes than that minister and that Levite had in a lifetime, and the most accursed thing on earthas national prejudice, and I bless God that I live in America, where Gentile and Jew, Protestant and Catholic can live together without quarrel, and where, in the national crucible, the differences of year and tribe and without quarrel, and where, in the national crucible, the differences of sect and tribe and people are being moulded into a great brotherhood, and that the question which the lawyer flung at Christ, and which brought forth this invalent of the read Samuelton. incident of the good Samaritan, "Who is my neighbor?" is bringing forth the answer, "My neighbor is the first man I meet in trouble," and a wound close at hand calls louder than a temple seventeen miles off, though it covers nineteen acres.

I saw in London the vast procession which long day, last January moved to St. Pauls one day last January moved to St. Pauls cathedral at the burial of that Christian hero. Lord Napier. The day after at Hawarden, in conversation on various themes, I asked Mr. Gladstone if he did not think that many who were utder the shadow of false religions might not nevertheless be at heart really Christian. Mr. Gladstone replied: "Yes; my old friend, Lord Navige which was the state of Mr. Gladstone replied: "Yes; my old friend, Lord Najvier, who was yesterday buried, after he returned from his Abyssinian campaign, visited us here at Hawarden and, walking in this park where we are now walking, he told me a very beautiful incident. He said: 'After the war in Africa was over, we were on the march and we had a soldier with a broken leg who was not strong enough to go along with who was not strong enough to go along with us and we did not dare to leave him to be taken care of by savages, but we found we were compelled to leave him and we went into the house of a woman who was said to be a very kind woman, though of the race of savages, and we said, "Here is a sick man, and if you will take care of him till he gets well we will pay you very largely," and then we offered her five times that which and then we offered her five times that which would ordinarily be offered, hoping by the excess of pay to secure for him great kindness. The woman replied: "I will not take care of him for the money you offer. I do not want your money. But leave him here, and I will take care of him for the sake of the love of God.'" Mr. Gladstone turned to me and said: "Dr. Talmage, don't you think that, though she belonged to a race of savages, that was pure religion?" And I answered: "I do," I do." May God multiply all the world over the number of good Samaritans!

In Philadelphia a young woman was dving.

In Philadelphia a young woman was dying. She was a wreck. Sunken into the depths of de-pravity, there was no lower depth for her to reach. Word came to the midnight mission that she was dying in a haunt of iniquity near by. Who would go to tell her of the Christ of Mary Magdalen? This one refused, and that Mary Magdalen? This one refused, and that one refused, saying, "I dare not go there." A Christian woman, her white locks typical of her purity of soul, said, "I will go, and I will go now." She went and sat down by the dying girl, and told of the Christ who came to seek and to save that which was lost. First to the forlorn one came the tears of repentance, and then the smile, as though she had begun to hope for the pardon of Him who came to save to the uttermost. Then, just before she breathed her last, she said to the angel of mercy bending over her pillow: "Would you kiss me?" "I will," said the Christian woman, as she put upon her cheek the last salutation before in the heavenly world. I think God as she put upon her cheek the last salutation before, in the heavenly world, I think, God gave her the welcoming kiss. That was religion! Yes, that was religion. Good Samari-tans along every street, and along every road, as well as this one on the road to Jericho. But our procession of sight-seers is again in line, and here we pass through a deep ravine, and I cry to the dragoman: "David, what line, and here we pass through a deep ravine, and I cry to the dragoman: "David, what place do you call this?" and he replied: "This is the brook Cherith, where Elijah was fed by the ravens." And in that answer he overthrew my life-long notions of the place where Elijah was waited on by the black servants of the sky. A brook to me had meant a slight depression of ground, and a stream fordable, and perhaps fiteen feet wide. But here was a chasm that an earthquake must have scooped out with its biggest shovel or split with its mightiest battle-ax. Six hundred feet deep is it, and the brook Cherith is a river, which for the next three weeks, and you missed the centuries.

Soon afterward a Levite came upon the scene. The Levites looked after the music of the temple and waited upon the priests and provided the supplies of the temple. This Levite pass of the temple and waited upon the priests and provided the supplies of the temple. This Levite pass is look at the mass of bruises and laceration in the middle of the road. "My! my!" says the Levite." Whis man is awfully hurt and he ought to be helped. But my business is to sing in the wine of oil may have given out, and what a fear-ful balk in the service that would make! Then one of the priests might get this breast-plate to men of the priests might get this breast-plate to men of the priests might get this breast-plate to make the priests might get this breast-plate to make the provided of the wounds of a man who will probably soon be dead another the product of the wounds of a man who will probably soon be dead another of the thinds and the dust ring from the road soon hides the hard-heart's head of the thinds and the dust ring from the road soon hides the hard-heart's head of the provided of the thinds of the provided of the thinds of the probably soon the coad soon hides the hard-heart's head of the provided of the provided of the thinds of the provided of the provid war-chariot, or the stroke of a catapult, or the swing of a ballista, crash! crash! crash! went the walls of that magnificent capital.

On the evening of December 6th we walked amid the brick and mortar of that shattered city, and I said to myself: All this done by poor music blest of God, for it was not a harp or a flute, or a clapping cymbal, or an organ played, at the sound of which the city surrendered to destruction, but a rude instrument making rude music blest of God, to the demolition of that wicked place which had for centuries defied the Almighty. And I said, if all this was by the blessing of God on poor music, what mightier things could be done by the blessing of God on good music, skillful music, gospel music? If all the good that has already been done by music were subtracted from the world, I believe three-fourths of its religion would be gone. The lullables of mothers which keep sounding on, though the lips that saing them forty years ago became ashes, the old hymns in log-cabin churches and country meeting houses, and psalms in Rouse's version in Scotch kirks, the anthem in English cathedrals, the roll of organs that will never let Handel or Haydn or Beethoven die, the thrum of harps, the sweep of the bow across bass viols, the song of Sabbath schools storming the heavens, the doxology of great assemblages—why, a thousand Jerichos of sin have by them all been brought down.

thousand Jerichos of sin have by them all been brought down.
Seated by the warmth of our camp-fires that evening of December 6th, amid the bricks and debris of Jericho, and thinking what poor music has done and what mightier things could be accomplished by the bleesings of God on good music, I said to myself: Ministers have been doing a grand work, and sermons have been blessed, but would it not be well for us to put more emphasis on music? Oh, for a campaign of Old Hundred! Oh, for a brigade of Mount Pisgahs! Oh, for a cavalry charge on Coronations! Oh, for an army of Anticochs and St. Martins and Ariels! Oh, for enough-orchestral batons lifted, to marshal all nations! and St. Martins and Ariels! Oh, for enough orchestral batons lifted, to marshal all nations! As Jericho was surrounded by poor music for seven days and was conquered, so let our earth be surrounded seven days by good gospel music, and the round planet will all be taken for God. Not a wall of opposition, not a throne of tyranny, not a palace of sin, not an enterprise of unrighteousness could stand the mighty throb of such atmospheric pulsation. Music! It sounded at the laying of creation's corner stone when the morning stars sang together. Music! It will be the last reverberation, when the archangel's last reverberation, when the archangel' trumpet shall wake the dead. Music! Le trumpet shall wake the dead. Music! Let its full power be now tested to comfort and bless and arouse and save.

While our evening meal is being prepared in the tents, we walk out for a moment to the "Fountain of Elisha," the one into which the prophet threw the salt, because the waters were poisonous and bitter, and lo! they became sweet and healthy; and, ever since, with gurgle and laughter, they have rushed down the hill, and leaped from the rocks, the only cheerful object in all that region being these waters.

vaters. Now on this plain of Jericho the sun is set-Now on this plain of Jericho the sun is setting, making the mountains look like balustrades and battlements of amber and maroon and gold; and the moon, just above the crests, seems to be a window of heaven, through which immortals might be looking down upon the scene. Three Arabs as watchmen sit beside the camp fire at the door of my tent, their low conversation in a strange language all night long a soothing rather than an interruption. I had a dream that night never to be forgotten, that dream amid the complete be forgotten, that dream amid the complet ruins of Jericho. Its past grandeur returned, and I saw the city as it was when Mark Anteny gave it to Cleopatra and Herod bought it from her. And I heard the hoofs of its swift steeds, and the rumbling of the chariots and the shouts of excited spectators in its amphibater.

And there was white marble amid green groves of palm and balsam; cold stone warmed with sculptured foliage: hard pillars cut into soft lace: Iliads and Odysseys in granite; basalt jet as the night, mounted by carbuncle basalt jet as the night, mounted by carbuncle flaming as the morning: upholstery dyed as though dipped in the blood of battlefields: robes encrusted with diamond; mosaics white as sea foam flashed on by auroras: gayeties which the sun saw by day, rivaled by revels the moon saw by night: blasphemy built against the sky: ceilings stellar as midnight heavens: grandeurs turreted, archivolted and intercolumnar: wickedness so appalling that established vocabulary fails, and we must make an adjective and call it Herodic.

The region round about the city walls seemed to me white with cotton, such as Thenius describes as once growing there, and sweet with sugar-cane and luscious with orange and figs and pomegradates, and redosweet with sugar-cane and luscious with orange and figs and pomegradates, and redelent with such flora as can only grow where a tropical sun kisses the earth. And the hour came back to me when in the midst of all that splendor Herod died, commanding his sister Salome immediately after his death to secure the assassination of all the chief Jews whom he had brought to the city, and shut up in a circus for that purpose, and the news came to the audience in the theater as some one took the stage, and announced to the excited multitude: "Herod is dead! Herod is dead!" Then in my dream, all the pomp of Jericho tude: "Herod is dead! Herod is dead!"

Then in my dream, all the pomp of Jericho vanished and gloom was added to gloom, and desolation to desolation, and woe to woe, until, perhaps the rippling waters of the fountain of Elisha suggesting it—as sounds will sometimes give direction to a dream—I thought that the waters of Christ's salvation and the fountains "open for sin and uncleanness," were rolling through that plain and rolling across the continent, and rolling round the earth, until on either side of their banks all the thorns became flowers, and all the the earth, until on either side of their banks all the thorns became flowers, and all the deserts gardens, and the hovels mansions, and and all the fuherals bridal processions, and all the blood of war was turned into dahlias, and all the groans became anthems, and Dante's Inferno became Dante's Divina Commedia, and Paradise Lost was submerged by Paradise Regained, and tears became crystals, and cruel swords came out of the foundries glistening ploughshares, and, in my dream, at the blast of a trumpet the prostrated walls of Jericho rose again. And some one told me that as these walls in Jericho's time, at the sounding trumpets of doom, went down, now at the rose again. And some one told me that as these walls in Jericho's time, at the sounding trumpets of doom, went down, now at the sounding trumpets of the gospel they come up again. And I thought a man appeared at the door of my tent, and I said: "Who are you, and from whence have you come?" and he said: "I am the Samaritan you heard of at the said: "I am the Samaritan you heard of at the said: of the man who fell among thieves, and I have just come from healing the last wound of the last unfortunate in all the earth." And I rose from my pillow in the tent to greet him, and my dream broke, and I realized it was only a dream, but a dream which shall become a glorious reality as surely as God is true and Christ's gospel is the world's Catholicon. "Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost, as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen."

Be Above Suspicion.

It is a gratifying feeling among many that their lives are above suspicion. Yet how many good people on account of circumstantial ser-roundings have had the finger of unjust sus-picion directed toward them. Carbuncles, ungood people on account of circumstanta sarroundings have had the finger of unjust suspicion directed toward them. Carbuncles, unyielding sores, pimples on the face, rough skin having an eruptive appearance, etc., are in the eyes of so many regarded suspiciously as indicating the presence of some contagious blood disease, and pointed questions asked that are productive of considerable annoyance. These skin blemishes and eruptive tendencies of course find their origin in the blood, but not necessarily the result of contagion. The blood may have become impure on account of colds and exposure, improper food, weak digestion, urinary disorders, etc. However, it is well to remove the unnatural condition of the blood and the fiesh by a prompt use of Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla. It regulates affairs internally and externally, beautifies the skin and rostores impaired organic functions to their normal strength and activity.

These glasses have won the admiration of all who have used them. They can be worn any who have used them. They can be worn any length of time at one sitting and give a marvelous clearness of vision. They stand unrivaled in their splendid reputation.

Mr. Hawkes not only has the best glasses, but carefully examines the eye of each patient, and gives indespensable advice as to the proper selection of glasses, having had an experience of eighteen years in this branch of science.

SPECTACLE FRAMES Are an important part to be considered in the se-lection of spectacles. Some persons are very broad between the eyes, while others are quite narrow. It being necessary that the axis of the eye and that of the lenses should coincide, great care should be taken in their selection. We give a few illustrations of perfect and im-perfect fitting eye-glass and spectacle frames below.

IMITATIONS.

The market is full of imitations, represented to be the same as Hawkes' new crystallized lenses. These imitations are, in most cases, productive of positive injury to the eyes of the wearer. Many dealers will recommend inferior spectacles and eye-glasses, and those of lower price, which afford more profit to themselves.

In South Carolina

South Carolina presents to-day an object lesson that may well be studied by the people of the south. The situation in that state is a very desperate one; the disruption of the democratic party, or, to be more accurate, the white man's party, is threatened, and there seems to be no remedy for the evil. Following this disruption will come political chaos and ruin. The situation seems to be but a step removed from negro domination and the renewal of the troubles that wrought disaster in South Carolina during the reconstruction period.

It might be supposed that the people of that state, after their humiliating experience with negro domination, would steer clear of all complications that might lead them in the direction of negro domination; and yet there seems to be a large body of democrats in Carolina who are so blinded by prejudice that they are willing to destroy the democratic party and take all the risks of the chaos that would ensue.

As Senator Butler truly says, there can be no middle ground in South Carolina; no half-way house. Judge Haskell and the men who are supporting him may call themselves democrats, but they are not democrats. They are destroyers of democratic unity and harmony, and they are preparing to let down the bars so that negro domina tion in one shape or another may run riot in the state.

The democratic party in South Carolina has already spoken, and in no uncertain voice. By an overwhelming majority of its voters it has nominated Tillman for gov ernor. He may be a very good man, or a very bad one-at any rate he is the democratic nominee, and those who oppose him must necessarily play into the hands of the republican party, which is composed of the worst and most vicious elements in South

The men who are bolting Tillman's nomination may call themselves democrats, but they are anything but democrats; they are playing directly into the hands of the republicans. They may call themselves patriots, and yet they are exposing the state and the people of South Carolina to the gravest dangers. Judge Haskell and his supporters, if they persist in their ruinous course, cannot escape the republican party. As a matter of fact the negroes have already held a convention and hitched the bolters to their cart. All that is necessary is for Judge Hackell to give the word and the motley procession will move.

Pulitzer and Bennett.

The bitter rivalry between The World and The Herald does not prevent these two great papers from occasionally doing justice to each other.

When it was announced the other day that Editor Pulitzer had taken the advice of his physician and retired from the editorial fact that Atlanta sends out more salesmen ald paid him a graceful compliment, and will have an interesting programme and visadmitted that his success in journalism was due to his ability, energy and knowledge of what the public wanted.

Pulitzer started in this country thirty years ago a penniless and friendless foreigner, while Bennett inherited The Herald. with millions of dollars besides. But the methods of the two men are substantially the same, and each recognizes in the other a master spirit. They are independent, original and daring. Their aim is to make their journals primarily great newspapers. But The World caters to the masses, while The Herald stands somewhat upon its prestige, and cares for no other constituency than the upper and middle classes.

Pulitzer pays high salaries, pensions and rewards his employes, and gives away money lavishly. When a man serves him well, and distinguishes himself by his scoops, he can get anything he wants from his chief.

In all these matters Pulitzer is merely following in the footsteps of Bennett. The editor of The Herald has a world-wide reputation for liberality and enterprise. Gener ally he bestows rewards upon the members of his staff for fine work. Sometimes it is a sum of money, or a watch, or a doubled salary, or a handsome house. To the man who urged him to illustrate The Herald, he recently sent a thousand-dollar check as a reward for the suggestion, with permission to take a European trip at the paper's expense. He gave $100,000 to the starving poor of Ireland some years ago, and spent $100,000 more in establishing soup houses for the poor in New York,

Pulitzer, in his field, rivals Bennett. He started later, and under appalling disadvantages, but he is still a young man, and when he recovers his health his career will furnish new surprises. In the meantime his paper, under the control of the editors who have been en deck all along, will run neck and neck with any competitor. Pulitzer and Bennett are the typical American journalists. We need them both. Their ideas and methods suit our people, and will never be lost sight of by newspaper managers and workers. These two great editors cannot be matched in either the old world or the new.

Against Cheap Prices. In one of his recent speeches, Mr. Mc-Kinley admitted that his tariff meant a ral increase of prices. He said:

This whole system of cheap things is a badge of poverty, for cheap merchandise means cheap men, and cheap men mean a cheap country, and that is not the kind our fathers builded. Further-er at honest prices tells the whole story. It fits Jay Gould's advice to the man to get along with one suit of instead of buying two suits.

But Mr. McKinley made a bad break when he spoke of cheap men. So far from raising wages under the new tariff, it is the ourpose of many of the largest manu facturers in the country to import cheap labor, and turn off their old workmen if they will not submit to a big reduction in wages.

An era of high prices and low wages will not be patiently endorsed by our toilers. They will revolt against their leaders, kick out of the party traces and vote with any political organization that will wage a cruisade against this iniquitous tax. Mr. McKinley's denunciation of cheap merchandise will not be forgotten. It may bring him the applause of the rich, but it will also bring upon his head the curses of the poor.

Governor Hill to the Front.

The one leading democrat who seems to be taking an active and personal interest in the political situation and its possibilities is Governor David Bennett Hill, of New York. The fact is encouraging, for not even Mr Tilden; as famed as he was for dealing with the practical side of politics, possessed in a greater degree the faculty of organization Recently, when there was danger of discord in the party in New York city, and trouble brewing in some of the congressional districts, Governor Hill went to the metropolis, called the party leaders and the dis affected democrats together, smoothed over the troubles, restored harmony and arranged for a democratic victory in the city.

We say, therefore, that it is encouraging when a democrat as sincere and as success ful as Governor Hill takes the field. It is an example that may well be followed at this time by other leading democrats. Turning his attention first to Ohio. Gov. ernor Hill will make five speeches in that state, beginning at Mr. McKinley's town of Canton. In addition to his speeches, which will be well worth listening to, Governor Hill will confer with the democratic leaders and give them the benefit of his skill and experience in the work of organization.

It is to be feared that there are a few democratic editors who will be inclined to criticise Governor Hill's intentions in taking part in the Ohio campaign. It will no doubt be said that he is striving to antagonize Mr. Cleveland as a candidate for the democratic nomination. Such suggestions are not uncommon to the political literature of Missouri, for instance.

Nevertheless the democrats of Ohio will be glad to see and hear Governor Hill, and we have no doubt that his presence in that state will serve to strengthen and stimulate the party. And the democrats of other states will be glad to know that he is going there, and that he is willing to go wherever his presence and his counsel can aid the democratic party.

Perhaps Governor Hill's readiness in this matter may serve to stir other leading democrats out of the apathy into which they have fallen. If not, the party will at least have the satisfaction of knowing that Governor Hill is a leader who knows nothing of defeat.

The Drummers and the Exposition. The Southern Travelers' Association has gone to work in earnest to make "Drummers' Day" at the exposition a brilliant success.

It is a well-known fact that these gentlemen while working for the interests of their employers never let the opportunity slip when they see a chance to bring Atlanta to the front. With a little help they will draw thousands of their merchant friends to the exposition on Monday, the 27th, when they go out 500 strong to Piedmont Park.

Our wholesale merchants should order in their traveling men, so that, on next Monday, their procession will demonstrate the ntrol of The World for a season, The Her- than any other southern city. The S. T. A. iting merchants will be made to feel that they are in the hands of their friends. Democrats North and South.

In his Rochester speech Mr. Reed made the assertion that the majority of democrats lived south of Mason and Dixon's line.

This is a big mistake. The democratic vote at the last presidential election was as

It is well to keep this feature of the situation before the people in planning the campaign of 1892.

"GATH" HAS WRITTEN an interesting letter about DeWitt Clinton, one of the most famous about DeWitt Clinton, one of the most famous governors that New York ever had. At one time in his life Clinton was apparently drinking himself to death. He went rapidly down hill uptil he was almost in the putter. When he was at his worst some old friends who still had confidence in him, railied around him and secured his election to the governorship. They were not mistaken in their man. The drunkard braced up, and the remainder of his career made a brilliant chapter in the politi-cal history of his state. There are many similar in-stances on record. Grant was sinking into hope-less incorrty when the war gave thin a chance to redoom hisself. redeem himself. Sometimes a great misfortune causes a man to pull up and reform his bad habits, but nine times out of ten it is a piece of good luck that sets such men on their feet again.

ABOUT THE 1st of December The Southern Mer chant, a semi-monthly trade journal, will be started in Nashville by A. E. Baird and Albert Roberts. It will be devoted to the general mer-cantile interests of the southern states.

THE NEW YORK EVENING SUN has the follow THE NEW YORK EVENING SUN has the following remarkable item: It is a pity that Charles Dickens lived before the time of the late Mrs. Ann Cooley, of New Portland, Me. Had he been favored with the acquaintance of that lady he would have been able to engraft some of her most original methods upon the character of Satrey Gamp, and strengthen her personality by so doing. Mrs. Cooley sometimes acted as nurse to the poor and distressed, for suitable pay, but she took her charges to her own home instead of "going out," like Mrs. Gamp. And it was in the case of a sick lauper, whom the town authorities hired her to take care of, that she made her most dazzling success. She took the sick man to her dazzling success. She took the sick man to house in the autumn. He lingered for a few weeks, but died at the beginning of the cold weather. Then the prudent Mrs. Cooley, instead of wasting him upon a grave, which would be hard to dig when everything was frozen so hard, made no report of his death, but just packed him in ice and snow out in a lot somewhere, and drew the money from the town for his keeping until late in the spring, when she announced, with unfeigned regret, that he was dead.

THE CHARMING little poem, "Rose Leaves," signed Mary McNish, in The Brunswick Times, shows genuine talent. It is understood that the writer is a young girl—the daughter of Dr. W. B. Burroughs, of Brunswick. She should cultivate her poetic gifts.

The apathy which is manifested all over our county in regard to voting, by absence from the polls on days of elections, would seem to indicate to our political enemies that we are indifferent to the success of the democratic party.

Similar complaints are made in other districts, and vigorous efforts are being made to get the democrats together.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

ENERAL MANAGER GREEN NOT TO

Railroad Personals and Topics of General Interest Concerning Railroad Matters in Every Section.

General Manager John M. Green, of the Georgia railroad, informs an Augusta Chroncle reporter that he does not expect to go to the Louisville and Nashville, but will remain in Augusta. About ten days ago General Manager Green left Augusta for Louisville, Ky. Rumorhad it that he went to confer concerning a proposed change of his headquarters. Now that the Louisville and Nashville has control of the State road, a half interest in the Georgia, and is believed to be reaching for the South Carolina road, so as to open a through line to the sea, it was rumored that General Manager Green, of the Georgia railroad, would be promoted by the Louisville and Nashville system to the management of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, the Western and Atlantic, the Georgia and South Carolina railroads. "I went over to Louisville," said Major Green, "and expected to return in a few days, but found there that I would have to go to New York, which I did. trip was entirely on Georgia railroad business, and I have not even heard the rumors in reference to myself, which you tell me now for the first time. I appreciate the compliment which the rumor implies, but there is no ground for it whatever. I have no idea of leaving Augusta. I have not the information to speak positively in the matter, but I take it for granted the State road will be directly under the control of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis management."

The Toledo, Columbus and Cincinnati railroad has made arrangements to build an ex-tension from Kenton, O., so as to form a con-nection with the Big Four system at Marys-ville. The work of construction will begin at ville. The work of construction will begin at once and will be pushed to an early completion as rapidly as possible. The Toledo, Columbus and Cincinnati railroad has connection with the Chicago and Erie a few miles south of Kenton, and will have one next spring with the Bee Line five miles south of Findlay, which, with the connection with the Big Four, will give the Toledo, Columbus and Cincinnati railroad connections with all the leading trunk lines of the country. leading trunk lines of the country.

Some consternation has been created in Chicago by the announcement that the Alton railroad threatened to withdraw from the railroad threatened to withdraw from the Western Freight Association, the Western Passenger Association, the Western Weighing Association, and the inspection bureau: Inspector Chapell was asked whether the report was true. He replied that it was. He said: "I just told Vice President E. P. Rippley, of the St. Paul, what we intended doing, and he said it meant chaos. I told him I knew that, and it seemed as if chaos was absolutely necessary to create final order, peace and a necessary to create final order, peace and a strict maintenance of rates. The reason for this is that the situation in the west it so bad that it could hardly be worse. Rates are absolutely demoralized, and neither the shippers, the passengers, railways, nor the public in general make anything by this state of affairs. The profit is all secured to the middleman, the go-between.

A charter has been applied for for the Tar-pon Springs and Tampa railroad, and as soon as obtained, work will be commenced on the as obtained, work will be commenced on the preliminary survey, and as soon as the route can be located, work will begin at once. The projectors have every assurance that all the money necessary will be forthcoming and that in a very short time trains will be running into Tampa, the advent of which will be a red-letter day for Tampa.

The Jeffersonville, Madison and Indianapolis division of the Pennsylvania lines is said to be the easiest operated of any division in the Pennsylvania system west of Pittsburg. Curves are few and not sharp, and grades are light. The class "O" eight-wheel freight engine is the heaviest used on this division, and they will haul thirty-two loaded cars over it at the rate of thirty miles an hour, if desired.

At a meeting of passenger agents in Cincinnati an agreement was reached as to Florida excursion rates this winter. The rates agreed upon were substantially the same as those of last year, or 2 cents per mile each way from northern parts to Calaban, Lake City and Jacksonville. South of these points the barring rate will be added. The Florida roads refuse to join in the reduction, and, on the other hand, will raise their rate this year poverty act, and that they do not get a chance at the public but half the year.

Trouble seems to be brewing for General Manager Saul, of the Evansville and Terro Haute road, in new quarters. The trainmen, the shopmen, the section men and the telegraph operators have all struck for better wages. Now the clerks have organized and demand an increase in pay, and have appointed a committee to meet General Manager Saul on the 25th of this month to adjust their wages. their wages. The consolidation of the Memphis division of the Newport News and Mississippi Valley Railroad Company with the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas road will greatly facilitate the handling of freight between Louisville and New Orleans, and largely increase the bulk of business over these lines. The working force of the consolidated companies has not yet been thoroughly organized, nor, indeed, have all the appointments been made ander the new management. The Louisville Southern on Saturday had seventy cars of live stock in the yards in Nashville for shipment. The Southern is so crowded with freight that its locomotives are doing double duty. If the company had more rolling stock it would be enabled to do much iness. This will be remedied, however, in the near future

. Railroad Notes. According to the report of the Interstate com-merce commission there have been about 2,000 railway employes killed and 20,000 injured by ac-cidents during the past year. During the same year 300 passengers were killed and 2,100 injured on railroads.

The Illinois Central has given notice that it will put in effect the joint-rate tariff ordered by the railroad commissioners of Iowa in that state on November 1st. The Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas-City will do likewise. Within the last thirty days the Atchison, To-peka and Santa Fe road has placed contracts for equipment which will cost $2,50,000, all of which is to be delivered between January 1 and April 1.

The attempt at the meeting of the Western Freight association to advance freight rates be-tween Chicago and St. Paul to the former basis of A Chicago newspaper publishes an interview with a ticket agent, the purport of which is that the interstate commerce commission has a number of government secretiservice agents at work trying in various cities to secure evidence against railroads which are believed to be violating the aw by secretly cutting rates. The gross earnings of the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago road for the five months ending September 30th, were greater than those of the corresponding period in 1889 by $28,622; the net carnings fall $15,685 below those of the corresponding period.

THE GREATEST SEASON ATLANTA EVER HAD.

RACES TODAY---A WONDERFUL PROGRAMME--2:30 P. M.

FOUR SPLENDID RUNNING RACES

A GREAT PROGRAMME.

THAT IS WHAT IS PROMISED IN TO-DAY'S RACING.

Four Running Races, with Some of the Best Horses in the Country to Start-Look at the Entries.

Programme's

A Daisy!

That was the sentiment expressed by one of the best known horsemen in the country, who was discussing the racing outlook for the week. And it is.

Four running races, three of them heat races, and in all some of the very best horses of the country entered—that is what the visitors to the exposition grounds will

That means at least seven heats, seven

Director Jack Spalding, who probably knows more about running horses than any other man in the south, said last night; "There are no less than 125 race horses on the grounds, and among them are some of the very best in the country. There never has been in this part of the south such an array of horses. The outlook for excellent sport is all that the most insatiate Kenınckian could desire."

Look at the programme of races. The first two are half-mile heat races. The racing programme contained one race of half-mile heats, but the unprecedented state of affairs of twelve starters presented itself and the directors decided to make two races of it and added another purse. For the first there are entered Colonel Cox, Espinola, Douglass, Shoemaker, Ada Gray and Billy Bush. All of these are good horses. Cólonel Cox, Shoemaker, Ada Gray and Espinola are all excellent horses and are well known. The other two horses are said to be equally good, and a splendid race is insured.

The second race will bring out Schoolgirl, Hiram Hood, Crown Prince, Maude, Moy Malloy and Dahlia-all good ones and closely matched.

The mile and one-eighth dash will bring a wonderfully strong field, and the man who can pick the winner out of this lot will be a good one. Here they are! Ban Adonis, the fleet daughter of King Ban; El Pretos and May Lillie, both fast ones; Osburn, who has already shown his strength here, and who is a splendid one: Panama, who can when he will beat the best horses of the country, but who is a decidedly uncertain quantity; Louis Martin; Metal, who won a game victory on opening day, and Eatonton, one of the very best on the grounds. Eight entries and anybody's race!

The fourth race, three-quarter mile heats, will bring out Jim Williams's splendid Tom Hood, Henry Hardy, the son of Jack Hardy, and Lalla Rookh; Fellowbrook, one of the fastest youngsters in the country, and Statesburg-all of them fast.

There has been no such day's sport south of Nashville since before the war. The conditions under which these horses are brought together, puts all upon an equal footing, insuring to each a good show for the purses. It is the end of the season, and they are all in it for blood-or for the money there is in it, which means the same thing. This insures sure enough racing, and any day's racing is worth seeing.

The Drummers Next Monday Next Monday will be Drummers' and Merchants' Day on the grounds.

They will have things their own way too, if preparation and determination count for ought.

The Southern Traveler's Associatian held a meeting in the new halls of the association Saturday night. for the purpose of arranging the programme of the Drummers' Day.

Mr. P. C. Cashman, chairman of the committee on arrangement, reported that the directors had fixed next Monday, October 27th, as Merchants' and Drummers' Day.

He spoke most enthusiastically about the success of the day, if the association would set to work with a unity of aim to achieve it. Every member was highly in favor of sparing no effort nor expense to carrying out the plan of Drummers' Day.

Several prominent speakers will be invited to address the knights of the grip, among whom will be Mayor Glenn, Captain E. P. Howell, Hoke Smith and Colonel William Glenn

On motion of Mr. J. B. Williams, the fol-On motion of Mr. J. B. Williams, the forsowing resolution was adopted:
Whereas, October 27th is the day set apart as Merchants' and Drummers' Day, at Piedmont exposition, and whereas, on this day is given a splendid opportunity for the merchants to meet their fellow-merchants from various parts of the south, Resolved, That we, the traveling men of Atlanta, do cordially invite our fellow-merchants and salesmen to attend the exposition on Merchants' and Drummers' Day, promising them a hearty welcome and a programme replete with fun and amusement.

The neeting was an enthusiastic one, and another will be hold next Tuesday evening at the Southern Travelers' Association half in the Atlanta is once more in the hands of sol-They have come from every quarter of the country, and the city has been surrendered to them freely. It is military week at the great Piedmont exposition. The grandest military display ever seen in the southern states is here, and the state and interstate drills to take place tomorrow and next day are the common topic of talk all over the south. A memorable contest it will be, for the companies entering are the very best in this sweet land of liberty. With records almost invincible, each com-pany has come in better trim than they have pany has come in better trim than they have ever yet been trained up to, and they are all bent on capturing the first prizes offered by the exposition company.

The city is full of military men today. Their glittering uniforms and brilliant brass buttons, bearing the coats of arms of the different states they represent, their genial faces and their merry making throw Atlanta into a spell of life and light, and the local companies and citizens generally agree in perfect harmony that nothing is too good for the soldier boys from afar.

At the Encampment. At the Encampment.

At the Encampment.

It didn't look much like Sunday out at the encampment in Piedmont park yesterday.

Tents were being unfolded and pitched in rows down among the pines that shade the north side of the park. Here and there, squads of soldiers loafed leisurely on the pine straw, sincking their pipes and chatting pleasantly over the incidents of their trip, or drilling through the manual excercises for practice.

The encampment is made up. of more than fifty tents, and presents a beautiful picture from the grand stand. Within the camp there will be several western and northern companies. Some of them are already quartered, and others will come in today and tonight.

come in today and tonight.

Camp Howell.

The Forth Worth Fencibies reached Atlanta yesterday, from Texas, and were escorted to the encampment by a detachment from the Atlanta artillery.

They pitched their tents early yesterday morning in a long line on the north side of the encampment, and named their camp after Miss Effie Howell, whom they have chosen sponsor.

after Miss Effie Howell, whom they have chosen sponsor.

It is "Camp Howell."

No jollier set of fellows than the Fencibles are to be found in the encampment. There are forty-three men in the company, and they are clever men with their arms. The officers are: Captain, W. B. Ford; B. H. Dunn, first lieutenant; W. H. Mobley, second lieutenant; J. M. Wyatt, first sergeant; J. A. Flaherty, second sergeaut; W. A. Duringer, surgeon.

Captain J. W. Duncan is in command of the company, with C. H. Sayle first lieutenant, and C. M. Wing, second lieutenant. The company is in excellent trim and their spirits and enthusiasm run high.

The boys from Suwanee, Tenn., will come in this morning on the early train over the Western and Atlantic railroad. Captain W. B. Lowe, jr., came down vesterday and says the Sewanee company will make things lively on the field for the first prize.

The Brunswick Rifes.

The Brunswick Rifles.

The Brunswick Rifles.

The Brunswick Rifles are at the Markham house. They came in yesterday on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad at 10:35, and they made a splendid appearance in their beautiful uniforms.

The company is in command of P. S. Morris, captain; H. S. Barkaloo, first lieutenant; S. C. Littlefield, second lieutenant; J. M. White, first sergeant; F. W. Dart, second sargeant; W. A. Floyd, corporal; E. L. Green, corporal; Claude Dart, corporal; L. A. Robinson, corporal. son, corporal.

of Macon, Ga. Military Notes.

Thousands will come to the state and interstate drills.

The interest in the military display at the exposition was never at such a high pitch as now. And the excitement will run high on the grand stand Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Camp Howell," the cherished home of the Fort Worth Fencibles, is adorned with two beautiful flags. One was given the company by the young ladies of Fort Worth.

It has the Texas coat of arms on one side, and the United States flag on the other.

The other flag was presented by the sisters of the Incarnate Word. It was made in Belgium, and is handsomely hand-painted.

The local companies are wild with zeal and enthusiasm over the interstate drills. The Rifles have been drilling twice a day for the past few weeks, and the Gate City Guards are down to business in dead earnest. They propose to make it hot for the winners.

The following dispatch was received last might from Sewance, Tenn.:

Sewance, Tenn., October 19.—[Szecial.]—The Sewance Rifles, Company C, Third Regiment National Guards, state of Tennessee, a company formed amongst the students of the University of the South, will reach Atlanta this morning by the Western and Atlante railroad.

They come to take part in the competitive drill. The following ladies will act as sponsors: Miss Julia Clark, of Atlanta; Miss Charlotte Elliott, of Sewance; Miss Allne Cleveland, of Houston, Texas; Miss Allne Stocking, of Atlanta. The officers are as follows: Captain, Francis L. Coyle, of Louisiana; first lieutenant, A. S. Cleveland, of Texas; econd lieutenant, F. E. Sharp, of Tennessee; chaplain, Hudson Stuck, of Texas; quartermaster, W. H. McKellar, of Alabama.

The Richmond and Danville. The Richmond and Danville exposition trains prove this year, as in the past, a popular mode of going to the exposition. Trains leave the Markham house every twenty minutes, beginning at 8 o'clock, and there are ample accommodations for the biggest kind of a crowd.

NEWS OF SOCIETY.

Invitations are out for a dance to be given by the Capital Hill club Tuesday night at Lowry's Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wood, father and mother of Mr. W. J. Wood, are in the city visiting their son and his family. Mrs. A. J. Lauter and daughter, Miss Katle, of Chattanooga, will visit Miss Claire Pause this week at her home, 59 Cone street.

Mrs. Hugh Porter, who has been visiting relatives at Seddon, Ala., on account of her ill health, is rapidly recovering, and will be home in two or three weeks.

Miss Lillie Oliver entertained a number of her friends last Tuesday evening at her beautiful home, corner Jones and Grant streets. The house was made still more attractive by the beautiful decorations. Social games and music and dancing were much enjoyed by all present. Among those present were Miss Cora Spinks, Miss Minnie Fowler, Miss Cifford O'Quin, Miss Lula Kidwell, Miss Cornelia Robbins, Miss Alma Moss, Miss May Bradley, Miss Carrie Robbins, Miss Lena Bradley, Miss Nellie Day, Mr. Phil Muller, Mr. Jim Tomason, Mr. Will Muller, Mr. Jim Tedens, Mr. Paul Mosteller, Mr. Tom Simpson, Mr. Will Kershaw, Mr. Joe Armistead, Mr. Berry Goodman.

In address in the same line, in which the de-retion of . the soldiers of the confederacy was teachingly eulogized.

Then came the quartette, "In Dreams I Beard the Seraphim," from Faure.

Colonel B. F. Abbott delivered a most in-teresting address, which was listened to most attentively by the great audience.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Heidt was to have followed, but he was univell and could not be present.

hev. Dr. J. W. Heldt was to have followed, but he was univell and could not be present.

Rev. T. P' Cleveland took his place on the programme, and in a short address he paid many tender tributes to the memory of those who had fallen by the wayside, and spoke most feelingly of those who had fought the battles of the south, glorious alike in victory and defeat.

The service was solemnly expressive of the manner in which the survivors hold in reverence the memory of their comrades, and there was not one in all that large audience but what was touched by the many expressions. what was touched by the many expressions of the tender regard and esteem in which the dead veterans are held by those who stood side by side with them through so many vicis-situdes of peace and war.

AUTOMATIC SPRINKLERS. Interesting Test of Them Made in Atlanta. The matter of automatic sprinklers as a protection against fires in factories, business blocks, etc., has been brought before the insurance companies to a very considerable extent during the past year or more.

While the insurance companies have had great confidence in the work of the sprinklers in closed buildings, yet there has been a good deal of doubt as to their efficiency in open warehouses, sheds, etc. To demonstrate this fact fully the Hill Automatic Sprinkler Company, of Columbus, Ga., invited the members of the Southeastern Tariff Association to a public test of the sprinklers on the vacant lot on Pryor street, near Edgewood avenue. An open frame work with no roof at all over it, was erected, covering a space of 30x40 feet, and on this frame work were placed pipes, etc., with twelve Hill sprinklers. The ground was covered with pine shavings about twelve inches deep, and over this was poured ten gallow of keresene oil gallons of kerosene oil. Water connection was kindly furnished from a fire hydrant near by, with fire hose, by

Arrangements were made to fire the entire mass instantly.

Three only of the sprinklers opened, and put the fire out in just one moment. The first sprinkler opened in thirty-five seconds, the second in forty seconds, and the third in fifty-five seconds from the time the torch was applied to the shavings.

The fire was an extremely hot one, and the work done was a complete surprise to all.

There were present Mr. H. C. Stockdell, chairman of the committee on automatic sprinklers; Mr. C. C. Fleming, secretary of the Southeastern Tariff Association, and the following representatives of insurance companies:

B. H. Abrage C. Februard, Association, W. M. T.

Panies:

R. H. Abrams, C. Edward Appler, W. E. Chapin, W. D. Deane, George W. Dewey, Charles E. Dox, R. A. Hancock, Dan F. Harris, J. C. Hunter, Kalford Kreth, Charles Matthews, Jr., J. Monroe Ogden, John W. The test was made under the immediate appreciation of Mr. E. H. Jenkins, president Georgia Steam and Gas Pipe Company, of Columbus, Ga.

WILSON'S MAMMOTH MINSTRELS. Tonight this great favorite and his burnt cork artists will delight our citizens. They appeared lately in Memphis, and the Avalanche gave them the following enthusiastic notice: the following enthusiastic notice:

The Memphis the atrical season and the Memphis theater were opened to an immense audience last night by George Wilson's minstrels, a clever aggregation of burnt cork and specialty talent. Never before was there so great a rush or so many people assembled within the walls of this old tem-ple of amusement. The vast auditorium was packed, hundreds of patrons had to stand up in the aisles, and even around the doors—all eager to catch a glimpse of the minstrel boys and the ever comical Wilson—and there were hundreds who returned home because they could not get seats. The opening part was very attractive, a combination of good music and choice humor, which was enthusiastically received. George Wilson, Lew Benedict, Andy McLeod, the Fulton Brothers in the fashion plates, with dancing interlude, were at their best, and were heartily en-ally rendered, the selections being arranged and presented with taste.

cored. The vocal music was clearly and artistic presented with taste.

The olio parts were no less attractive. Blossom and Burns, in laughable scenes and grotesque dancing, caught the audience at once.

The Kermesse Gypsy dance, by fourteen artists, a coterie of accomplished dancers, who gave charming terpsichorean sketches, was another solid attraction of merit.

George Wilson, a comedian of the truest type, gave a "chatter" song, and related witty ancedotes until his auditors grew weary of laughing. That was followed by a tableau sketch entitled, "Swinging in the Grapevine Swing," and presented elaborately and charmingly by belles and beaux of high colored society, the delineators being Messrs. Lewis, Kelly, Fulton brothers, Blossom, Burns, Talbert and Ward.

Sol Smith Russell.

Sol Smith Russell. Our play-goers will be quite delighted with the announcement that the quaintest and most enjoy-able comedian of them all is to be with us again. Next Wednesday evening and Thursday matines and night, Sol Smith Russell, fresh from brilliant engagements in New York city, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, will present his new play, "A Poor Relation," at the opera house. Sol Smith Russell, as everybody knows, is the one comedian of his kind. He is inimitable, always refined, always amusing. In his new play he has a legitimate comedy, and the critics are saying that the mantle of Joseph Jefferson will fall on his shoulders. Mr. Russell is supported by the largest and best company he has ever had, and his engagement next week will be the comedy event of the Season. Seats for the eminent conedian's performance will go on sale Monday.

Thursday night Mr. Russell will present his screaming comedy, "Bewitched." engagements in New York city, Boston, Philadel-

At the age of thirteen my son became affected with chronic diarrhea, caused by scrofula. I gave him Bull's Sarsaparilla and it cured him. I recommend it especially for scrofula, fever, sores and general debility. The cures I have known it to make in some cases seemed almost miraculous.—Jennie Johnson, Benton Barracks, Mo.

The Voice

Is easily injured - the slightest irritation of Is easily injured—the slightest irritation of the throat or larynx at once affecting its tone, flexibility, or power. All efforts to sing or speak in public, under such condi-tions, become not only painful but danger-ous, and should be strictly avoided until every symptom is removed. To effect a speedy cure no other medicine is equal to

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The best of anodynes, this preparation rapidly soothes irritation, strengthens the delicate organs of speech, and restores the voice to its tone and power. No singer or public speaker should be without it. Lydia Thompson, the famous actress, certifies: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of very great service to me. It improves and strengthens the voice, and is always effective for the cure of colds and coughs."

"Upon several occasions I have suffered from colds, causing hoarseness and entire loss of voice. In my profession of an auctioneer any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter, but at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordi-nary care, has worked such a

"In the spring of 1863, at Portsmouth, Va.,
I was prostrated by a severe attack of typhold pneumonia. My physicians exhausted their remedies, and for one year I was not able to even articulate a word. By the advice of Dr. Shaw I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to my surprise and great joy, in less than one month I could converse easily, in a natural tone of voice. I continued to improve and have become since a well man. I have often recommended the Pectoral, and have never known it to fail." - George R.

In an issue last week of the New York Tribune, the following was quoted from the

I am sometimes amazed in passing the great ready-made clothing establishments to note how differently they are regarded than formerly. It was less than a generation ago that they were patronized almost exclusively by workingmen, mechanics and farmers who desired rough, cheaplymade clothing. Merchants, bankers, professional men invariably left their measure with their tailors, and scorned what was familiarly termed "slop-made" clothing. But a demand arose for fine grades of ready-made clothing and the alert American manufacturer was ready to meet it. It was the old story of the relative cost of making one coat or of making 500. But there were men of peculiar shape who heretofore could be fitted only by the custom tailor. He was too tall, too fat. This difficulty was soon met and overcome, until today the ready-made dealer has for his customers that class of men who once scorned him.

And that explains why every sort and condition of man may be suited with Cloth-
